

Severe Weather Drill Announcement

May I have your attention please. This is a severe weather warning drill. Please go quietly to your designated severe weather areas at this time. The last one out of the room should close the door behind them. Please stay in your severe weather area until you hear the all-clear announcement. Again, this is a severe weather warning drill. Please go quietly to your designated severe weather areas at this time. The last one out of the room should close the door behind them.
